

PROFESSIONAL CONDUCT: APPEAL PROCEDURES***

I. Introduction

In preparation for their chosen professions, Seattle University students may work in direct contact with clients or patients as a part of their practice, clinical or field experiences. Due to the obligation to protect clients and patients, students in practice and other professional settings must demonstrate the requisite knowledge, skills, and judgment needed to be a competent practitioner. Additionally, students in practice and other professional settings must at all times conform to conduct that demonstrates the appropriate ethical, professional and social (behavioral) attributes expected of professionals in that practice. Professional conduct is, therefore, determined by the professional standards and codes of ethics of the profession for which the student is being prepared and educated.

These procedures apply to student violations of a school, college and/or program's professional standards of conduct that are considered to be so egregious by the school or college as to warrant dismissal from a professional program and/or denial of a certificate or licensure for violation of professional standards.

These procedures are not applicable to alleged violations of the Academic Integrity Policy or the Academic Grading Grievance Policy. In certain instances, conduct that violates a school, college and/or program's professional standards of conduct may also violate the University's Student Conduct Policy and be subject to the procedures in that policy as well.

Grade penalties imposed under the Professional Conduct Policy as the result of the student being removed from a practice setting may not be appealed through the Academic Grading Grievance Policy.

Timelines and procedures applicable to this policy are set forth below. The dean or dean's designee can extend timelines or adjust procedures at their discretion should they determine it is reasonable and necessary under the circumstances. Should the student have concerns about specifics of the procedure in a given case, the student can bring these concerns to the attention of the dean or dean's designee. ## V. Content of Appeal

A signed and dated written appeal should include the following:

- x Identification of the recommendation that the student wants to appeal;
- x The specific ground(s) for the appeal and an explanation of why, based on these grounds, the recommendation should be changed;
- x A statement authorizing the appeal committee to communicate with those persons who were involved in the decision-making process or who may have relevant information concerning the decision. (If the student refuses to sign such an authorization, the appeal process is thereby terminated and the recommendation to dismiss for the program or deny a certificate will be implemented);
- x Any substantive information that the student believes the recommender did not consider in the written recommendation;
- x The student's current address, telephone number, and e-mail address.

The student should make every effort to include in the request for review all supporting documents and materials the student wishes the appeal panel to consider.

VI. Student Status during the Appeal Process

If a student files an appeal within the allowed timeframe, the student is suspended until the final appeal is determined. While the appeal is pending, the student cannot continue in classes, field or clinical placements, or enroll in additional courses without the express, written approval of the dean or dean's designee. The dean or dean's designee may also prohibit the student from participating in any of the college's extracurricular activities.

VII. Appeal Hearing Procedure

Step 1: Notifying dean or dean's designee that an appeal has been filed

After receiving the appeal, the dean's designee will send the program director or department chair a copy of the appeal.

Step 2: Composition of Appeal Panel

Review of program recommendations by school or college based panel.

Within five business days of receipt of the appeal, the dean shall appoint the chair of the appeal panel (this may be the dean's designee) and three faculty members, if the panel is not already constituted. The chair of the appeal panel shall be a faculty member from the school or college in which the program resides. In no case will either the chair of the appeal panel or any of the faculty members be the individual who reported the violation, filed a written report, recommended or decided that the student would be either dismissed from the program or not be recommended for a professional certificate or licensure.

3. The chair of the appeal panel will ask the program director or department chair to respond to the student's evidence and to explain the evidence and the process leading to the decision.
4. The chair of the appeal panel will provide the student with an opportunity to respond to the program director or department chair's statements and evidence.
5. The chair of the appeal panel will give the panel members an opportunity to ask both the student and program director or department chair questions.
6. The chair of the appeal panel will end the hearing by asking if the student and program director or department chair have any final statements and by telling the student and program director or department chair that the panel members, but not the chair of the appeal panel, will meet in a closed session to decide the merits of the appeal. The student and program director or department chair are each allowed, but are not required to make a final statement summarizing their respective positions. They and the chair of the appeal panel will then leave the hearing.
7. The appeal panel will then meet (or set a meeting time) to conduct their deliberations.

Step 6: Deciding the Appeal

A simple majority vote of the panel members is required to change the decision being appealed.

Step 7: Preparing the Written Opinion

Within five business days of the conclusion of the hearing, the appeal panel will issue a written decision and send by email copies of the decision to the chair of the appeal panel, the student, the program director or department chair, and the dean's designee or dean. The dean's designee or dean will send by certified mail the signed original copy of the report to the student. Unless Part VI below applies, the panel's decision is final and cannot be appealed.

VIII. Limited Appeal

If the student or program director or department chair believes that the appeal process failed to follow the appropriate procedures and that the procedural violation materially affected the appeal decision, either may file a limited written appeal to the dean within five business days of notification of the outcome of the appeal. In this limited appeal the student or program director or department chair should set out the procedure that they believe was not followed, any information they have to support the claim and a statement explaining how that alleged procedural error affected the appeal decision. The dean will review the written material submitted, conduct any investigation they believe is necessary, and make a decision within five business days as to whether material procedural error occurred. This decision is final and not subject to further appeal. If the dean finds that a material procedural error occurred, then the matter shall be remanded to the appeal panel to remedy the material procedural error and reexamine its original decision and make such changes as are deemed appropriate. The decision of the appeal panel on remand is final and not subject to further appeal.
