

We are pleased to present you with this financial aid offer to support you in managing the investment of a Seattle University education. Please note that this offer is conditional pending submission and evaluation of the documents or information requested on your 2023-2024 Financial Aid Required Documents. Financial Aid Required Documents are noted on your Financial Aid Self Service Checklist.

This offer is based on the information you provided on your FAFSA, admissions application, and your enrollment/housing status for each term. This offer letter outlines the cost of attendance and financial aid Seattle University has conditionally offered you based on pending approvals of Federal and Washington State program funding and the review of any required document or information. If your status changes for any reason please contact Student Financial Services as soon as possible as a change may impact your aid eligibility. You will be notified of any changes to your financial aid offer by our office through your SU email. Your most recent offer will always be available in the Financial Aid Self Service on mySeattleU online.

IMPORTANT NEXT STEPS:

1. Review and complete any Action Items detailed on your Financial Aid Self Service Checklist.
2. Read the 2023-24 Conditions of Award , which includes requirements to maintain eligibility for financial aid(Satisfactory Academic Progress). Note that by receiving disbursements of any of the aid in this offer letter you are agreeing to the conditions outlined in the document.
3. Review estimated net costs. Undergraduate students: download an Estimated Out-of-Pocket Cost Worksheet, (please click on the SU logo to open the worksheet). This worksheet can be used to assist in planning to cover the difference between costs and financial aid. Graduate students should view the College Financing Plan.
4. Review additional information. Visit the SFS Website to learn more about grants/scholarships (money you do not have to pay back), loans (money you pay back; borrowed against future earnings), and work-study/student employment (money you can earn by securing a job).
5. Choose whether to decline (or reduce) student loans and/or work-study. Until it is disbursed you may choose to decline (or reduce) a student loan(s) offered to you on the My Awards page. If you would like to decline any other financial aid such as work-study, please complete a Financial Aid Revision Request. If, in the future, you would like student loans or work-study reinstated or you would like to return all or part of your disbursed student loans, you must contact Student Financial Services.
6. Consider other financing options.

*Federal PLUS Loan options: - If you are a dependent undergraduate student or a graduate student you may receive a Federal Parent PLUS (parent is the borrower) or Graduate PLUS loan, respectively. The Loan can be up to the difference between your total cost of attendance and total offered aid. The loan is contingent upon application approval. Debt-to-income ratio, credit score, and employment status are not taken into consideration; however, adverse credit typically results in a PLUS loan denial (undergraduate student may be eligible for additional Direct Loan); must be repaid by borrower.

*Payment Plans: - Seattle University offers annual and quarterly plans that allow you to spread your net costs over a quarter.

*Outside Scholarships: - Scholarships are available from many sources including high schools, places of worship, civic groups, businesses or organizations in the community, and parents' or your employer(s). Visit Seattle University's Outside Scholarship page for more information and resources such as Scholarship Universe. You should never have to pay for a scholarship search, and you should not apply for a scholarship that charges an application fee.

*Private Student Loan: - Available to graduate and undergraduate students, borrowers receive funding from private lenders. Contingent upon application approval from a bank, credit union, non-profit or state-based education finance organizations or online lender.
